Rains spark tomato price rise

Rates double in one month on reduced supply; processors stay away from fresh purchase

DILIP KUMAR JHA
Mumbai, 28 September

Tomato prices have doubled in the last one month after supply reduced from Maharashtra, owing to incessant rains across major growing regions.

Maharashtra is one of the largest growers of tomato.

Data compiled by Nashik-based National Horticultural Research & Development Foundation (NHRDF) showed almost 100 per cent increase in tomato model prices in September to ₹24 a kg from ₹14.50 a kg in the beginning of the month. Meanwhile, stockists ramped up supply to take advantage of the price rise. Thus, total tomato arrivals jumped to 519 tonnes towards the end of September from 368 tonnes in the beginning of the month.

Similarly, the price of tomato in Mumbai jumped to ₹25 a kg on Thursday from ₹16.50 a kg early September. In Mumbai, the Agriculture Produce Market Committee (APMC) said onion arrivals declined to 378 tonnes on Thursday as compared to 417 tonnes in the beginning of September.

Trade sources believe that tomato supply from Maharashtra has slumped due to incessant rain in the state towards the end of the monsoon season.

Farmers in Maharashtra feed tomato during the September-October period to the entire country with their early kharif variety crop. It is followed by the seasonal kharif crop from Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh and Gujarat. "Tomato arrivals have declined sharply from Maharashtra which led to a sharp surge in prices in the wholesale market. Farmers have reduced supply due to water logging in the fields. Rain in the last few weeks paralysed harvesting and thus, transportation of tomato," said Shyam Lal, Deputy Secretary, Azadpur APMC. Tomato sowing was delayed this year due to a three-week delay in the onset of the monsoon.

The vegetable's planting was disrupted due to lack of soil moisture.

Following that, the uneven distribution of the monsoon hampered sowing with drought in the initial phase in some major growing regions of the state.

Again, tomato farming was affected by two rounds of floods across the state.

"There was a huge crop loss across Maharashtra. Delay in sowing resulted in the proportionate delay in harvesting. While farmers are preparing to harvest the pre-matured crop, continuous rain across the state has eroded prospects to cash in on the higher tomato prices," said Shivaji Pandurang Chubhale, chairman, Nashik APMC.

Interestingly, quality of the current harvested crop is also poor with high moisture content, thereby reducing the shelf life amid fears of spoilage.

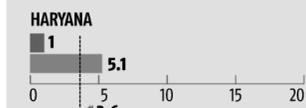

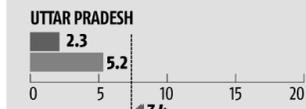

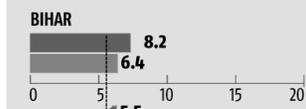

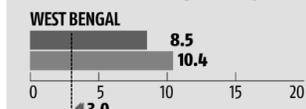

Meanwhile, tomato processors, including chips and ketchup makers, have deferred their fresh purchases at this price. These large corporates normally purchase good quality tomato for future use. "There is no order from large buyers at this price. They fill their cold storage during peak arrivals when prices fall sharply," said a large tomato supplier in Vashi, near Mumbai.

CRISIL DRIP

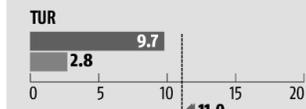

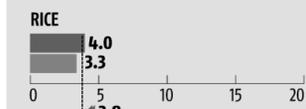

SOUTH-WEST MONSOON WINDS UP IN SURPLUS

State-wise DRIP scores

■ 2018 ■ 2019 ◀ Average of last 5 years

Crop-wise DRIP scores

Source: Indian Meteorological Department, Ministry of Agriculture, CRISIL

THE 2019 SOUTH-WEST MONSOON season has ended with rainfall at 6 per cent surplus over the long period average (LPA) at the all-India level. A 'normal' season would mean rainfall at ±4 per cent of LPA.

However, uneven distribution of rains—both spatial and temporal—meant that sowing was initially slow but gained pace later. Excess rains in many places have also damaged crops, in addition to life and property. As of September 25, central India got a thorough drenching, with rainfall 25 per cent above normal. Relatively close was the southern peninsula, where cumulative rainfall was 16 per cent above normal. Deficiency, at 16 per cent below normal, was the highest in east and north-east, whereas the north-west was 8 per cent short.

Half of the country* received 'normal' rains this season. Compared with the past few years, fewer places saw normal rains, while close to a third saw 'excess' and the rest saw deficiency. The good part is most regions that received deficient rains enjoy good irrigation cover and therefore the impact on crop production would be somewhat cushioned.

Among major kharif growers, Karnataka, Gujarat, Maharashtra, Rajasthan, and Madhya Pradesh have received excess rains at 23-37 per cent above normal. By contrast, Haryana, West Bengal and Uttar Pradesh have seen rainfall deficiency of 20-43 per cent. And Bihar, which was deficient till the past week, has seen some catch-up.

Given the wild swings this year, deficiency in many others, rapid catch-up in a few areas and delay in others, some damage to crops and sowing is a given. The extent of this remains a monitorable. To be sure, some re-sowing or delayed sowing has also taken place, which would mitigate some of the damage. That said, rainfall volume data alone does not tell the whole story. We need to also consider vulnerabilities that arise from inadequate irrigation for a comprehensive perspective on states and crops.

CRISIL's Deficient Rainfall Impact Parameter (DRIP) does just that. The higher the CRISIL DRIP score, the more adverse the impact of deficient rains. We compare scores not just with the previous year, but also with the last five years' average, to get a more holistic picture.

The latest DRIP scores show some stress in 4 states. The scores are the highest and also higher than trend in two of these—West Bengal and Bihar whereas the relatively better irrigated states of Haryana and Uttar Pradesh have scores that are higher on-year but lower than trend.

Central Bank set to raise ₹2K cr via tier-II bonds

ABHIJIT LELE
Mumbai, 28 September

Public sector lender Central Bank of India plans to raise ₹2,000 crore capital through tier-II bonds to meet the regulatory norms for capital adequacy.

ICRA assigned 'A+' rating to the proposed bond offering.

These rated instruments (tier-II bonds under Basel III) is a hybrid subordinated instrument with equity-like loss-absorption features.

They are expected to absorb losses once the "point of non-viability" (PONV) trigger is invoked.

Central Bank will be one of the two public sector banks that will continue to work as an independent bank to strengthen national presence.

The other bank is Mumbai-based Bank of India. Central Bank is at present under the Reserve Bank of India's prompt corrective action (PCA) regime on account of high incidence of bad loan and low capital base. Under the PCA, the bank faces restrictions on extending big-ticket loans and incurring expenses.

The assigned rating factors in the sizeable capital infusion by the Centre in Central Bank. The Centre infused equity capital of ₹6,588 crore in FY19. It proposes to infuse ₹3,300 crore in FY20.

Moreover, the ratings are supported by the majority sovereign ownership of the Central Bank, where the Centre holds 91.20 per cent stake as on June 30.
